STATE CHAPTER

FINANCIAL ANALYSIS 2010-2020

Preamble

Mid-nineteenth century witnessed a revolution in Information Communication Technology (ICT) phenomenon. Gradually today, ICT is forcing the biggest change in the way people live since the automobile. Its emergence forces new infrastructure cum mass production, spawns' new businesses, and threatens the status quo of everything that existed before it. It is very useful tool that will continue to experience new development as time passes.

In education environment today, libraries have been among the first in academic unit to be shaken to its philosophical foundation and compelled in all ramifications of its practice to embrace the deluge of information technology. This revolution clearly necessitates the need for LIS Professionals to employ ICT tools to manage and drive its activities. Without doubts this development will enable members track their contribution to the Association and help to push forward the quest to preserve our records electronically.
